CUBAN RECIPROCITY DOOMED THIS SESSION

Suggestion Made That the President Negotiate a Treaty for Submission to Congress in December.

ASHINGTON, June 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The President's message, with all its sincerity eloquence, is not going to save the an Reciprocity Bill, according to appearances tonight. Even those thors and Representatives who have the standing with the President in the secure relief for Cuba, have message, with all its sincerity and eloquence, is not going to save the Cuban Reciprocity Bill, according to all appearances tonight. Even those Senators and Representatives who have been standing with the President in trying to secure relief for Cuba, have practically given up all hope for the present bill, and the best they now expect is that, next winter, a reciprocity treaty with Cuba will be offered to the Senate and ratified by that body. mate and ratified by that body.

All this comes from the suggestion ade last evening, that the entire session be referred to the President mself, with the suggestion that, dur-himself, with the suggestion that, during the summer, he negotiate a reciprocity treaty with Cuba through regular channels and submit that treaty to the Senate for ratification at the opening of the session in December next. That suggestion seems to have taken well even with some administration Senators, and it has the unanimous indersement of those Senators who have been standing for the beet-sugar side of this great question. So, at a caucus of Republican Senators Wednesday evening, it will be proposed that the caucus suggest to the President that the best way out of the difficulty will be to have the State Department get up a treaty with Cuba during the sumup a treaty with Cuba during the sum-mer and submit it to the Senate in the regular way. If that proposition gets a majority of votes in caucus, it will be adopted.

There are a good many Senators who have been standing for Cuban reciprocity who say this plan is pretty sure to carry, and they consequently the American sugar trust. Again, this method leaves the whole question entirely to the treaty-making power, which many statesmen claim is the only power that rightfully can deal with reciprocity matters.

by power that rightfully can deal the reciprocity matters.

It gives opportunity for investigation into actual conditions in Cuba to termine whether Cubans, Spaniards Americans own the sugar lands, a gives full opportunity for finding texactly what sort of relief will the people and the government of ba the most good.

The beet-sugar Senators, in the mean me, are not willing to agree that held Wednesday.

There is some feeling against a caucus on the part of the Republican Senators who support the reciprocity plan, and on account of this sentiment there is a growing possibility that no caucus will be held. No one doubts that the reciprocity advocates would be in the majority in the Republican cauthe majority in the Republican caucus, but the minority would be sufficiently numerous to show a serious division. It is the wish of the leaders to avoid this exhibition if possible.

The beet-sugar men held a conference last night, and again pledged themselves to stand out solidly against the Senate bill. They say that as a result of that conference there are no fewer than nineteen Republican Senators who will announce in the caucus that they will vote against the bill for a reduction of the tariff. There are some who are not willing to vote for some who are not willing to vote for the House bill with the Morris amendment included, but others say they will do so if pressed to that extremity. They continue to strongly urge the rebate proposition as a compromise, and they claim that their compact is firmer than any before bate proposition as a compromise, and they claim that their compact is firmer than ever before.

Several Senators who have a knowledge of the condition of business in the Senate said today that Congress would adjourn by July I. One of them, who has been an earnest advocate of reciprocity with Cuba, said: "Whether we reach an agreement or not, we will adjourn by the first. If there is no egreement by that time, it will be useless for the Senate to remain here trying to reach an agreement. If an agreement is reached, we can pass a bill by the first."

The advocates of reciprocity say the Republican conference Wednesday will determine what can be done. When it is known just what the Republican members of the committee offer, it is expected that it can be definitely determined how many Republicans can be counted for and against it. The reciprocity advocates believe that the measure to be presented will command a majority of the Senate within the Republican party, after which there will be little or no opposition to its adoption.

During the day, talk has been revived about a treaty with the new Cuban government. Senator Foraker some days ago suggested this to the President as a way out of the difficulty. It also was one of the propositions of the beet-sugar men to the Republican members of the Committee on Relations with Cuba, and was rejected.

The beet-sugar men say that fifty-two Republicans would support such a treaty, and it is said that enough Democrats could be secured to ratify it. But the leaders of the reciprocity movement say that a treaty would mean the defeat of legislation at this session; that there is not time enough to negotiate it and pass it before adjournment.

PALMA OBJECTS TO REBATE. BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.1 WASHINGTON, June 16.—President Palma of Cuba has indicated to President Roosevelt his conviction that the rehate proposition relative to Cuban sugar would be not only very objec-tionable in itself, but would be expenlive and almost impossible to carry out in the distribution.

It is not stated how this pr was communicated to Preside was communicated to President Robse-veit, but it is assumed that Secretary. Hay was the medium, having been ac-quainted by Señor Quesada, the Cuban Minister, with President Palma's po-sition on this subject. Should it become apparent that there is no possibility of an agreement between the Senate and the House upon the pending reci-procity proposition, then the President probably will endeavor to simplify the problem by dropping the House calcuproblem by dropping the House carcu-lations and negotiate directly with President Palma. It is thought such a treaty would require the approval of two-thirds of the Senate, but it is be-lieved that under the changed condi-

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—The steamer Alameda, which arrived from Honoluiu tonight brings news that the British four-masted bark, Fanny Kerr, Capt. Her Acceptable of trial, are few, and consist wholly of trial, are few, and consist wholly of the constant M.1 Kerr, Capt. Her decks blew up shortly after she left, and she is now either a dangerous derelict or has gone to the bottom. The crew was saved. The Fannie Kerr was a steel vessel of 2286 tons, 10 years old, and was on her way to San Francisco from New of Caste, with 3750 tons of coal. She left New Castle April 7. The fire was not discovered until the day before the vessel blew up. It had been slowly making its way below, however, for some time. It was first discovered after a heavy explosion that made the hull quiver and sent the ventilators high into the rigging. This was 2 o'clock on the morning of the 28th or May.

"The Call knows of no reason why the State officials and the witnesses in the case should be subjected to the Inconvenience of attending a trial in A distant place, where there are no accommodations. A fair and a full trial could have been had in this county, in Sacramento, in Alameda, in Marin or in Santa Clara. Gage could have had his choice of any Superior Judge be might prefer to try the issue. The Capt. Gibbons states that there was not the slightest warning of any fire selow before the explosion that revealed conditions already hopeless. He attributes the fire to spontaneous combustion. Twenty-four hours after the first discovery of the fire, the after hatch was blown open, and flames mounted 150 feet into the air, burning fall the mizzen rigging. Efforts to keep the fire down continued, but as often as a hatch was closed it exploded again, and the steel decks began to get so hot that the men could not stand on them. Efforts to put out the fire with water were made, but they were not continued long, as it was evidently hopeless.

guards this afternoon, beat them, took their rifles and fied to the brush. They got a start of about six miles before two companies of soldiers from Fort Baker were in pursuit. The ferry-boats at Tiburon and Sausalito are guarded by armed soldiers. Up to a late hour no trace of the prisoners has been found.

One named Clough is a young man, five feet five inches high, blue eyes, slight figure and a smooth thin face. The other, named Day or Philip, is a little older, larger and heavier, with iron gray hair. A reward of $30, each and traveling expenses is offered by Commanding Officer Merill of Alcatraz. The prisoners were with a guard of twenty-five men who had been taken from the prison at Alcatraz to Fort Baker. Shortly after noon the two men who escaped were ordered to do some work a little apart from the rest of the gang. Two of the guard of ten men were detailed to watch them, After they had gone a short distance the two prisoners suddenly attacked the soldiers. They knocked the two guards down, and taking their rifles and ammunition from them, fled. As they went the rest of the guards fired at them. At the brow of a hill one of the fleeing prisoners turned and fired a shot at his pursuers, then dodged from view into a ravine.

Two companies of the Coast Artillery, in command of Lieuts, Howard and Ludlow, and numbering about one hundred and fifty men, were turned out to search for the escaped prisoners. Along with them were about a hundred citizens of Sausalito. All of the roads and trails leading out of the requisition army repeating rifles and have several rounds of ammunition.

CONTRACT WITH TRUST.

DECLARED VOID IN LAW. THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M. SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—Judge Kerrigan decided today that Getz Bros. were not entitled to $10,000 for which they sued the Federal Salt Company. The decision is an important one, in that it affects contracts of a peculiar nature made between trusts and whole-nature made between trusts and wholesale dealers.

In December, 1991, the salt company purchased from Getz Bros. 1516 tons of salt en route from Liverpool, also buying the option held by Getz Bros.
In 2500 tons of saline chemical. For the cargo and the option the trust offered two checks of $5000 each, Getz Bros. agreeing that they would not purchase salt from any firm on this Coast but the Federal Salt Company.
When the checks were presented for payment they were dishonored, and Getz Bros. brought suit to enforce their payment.

In deciding the case, Judge Kerrigan held that the contract is a direct violation of the Sherman act, which provides that contracts or agreements tending to interrupt or interfere with the progress of trade are invalid.

one of the most powerful and eminent families of Ohio, with love and fortune at his command.

Months ago Miss Mabel saw at a local art exhibition a picture that caught her fancy. It was only a landscaperiver and range—but it pleased her. A day or two later a mutual friend who knew of the young woman's fancy for the painting, introduced her to the artist, Harry Parsons. At the time, he would have as much thought of aspiring for Miss Hanna's hand as of jumping into Niagara, but he called at the Hanna home and fell in love with Miss Mabel.

The girl secured a place as private secretary to her father for the young artist, and after a year, when the Sensons spoke to him of his love. Hanna raged and swore, but when he rushed home his daughter and wife persuaded him to agree.

Horrible Deeds of a Mississippi Mother Mad

IBY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES. JACKSON (Miss.) June 16 .-[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mad from the effect of heat, Mrs. Louis Westhrop, wife of a well-to-do farmer, shot five of her children to death with a Winchester, then tied an infant girl to the bed in a farmhouse and kindled the building with a torch. The baby was cremated.

The horrible crime was committed yesterday afternoon. The Westhrop homestead is located near Brandywine, in Jefferson county, and farmers for miles around organized a posse to take up the search for the insane woman, who is still possessed of a weapon, and is defying all efforts to capture her. Late tonight it was said that one of the searching parties had sent a messenger to Brandywine with the news that she had committed suicide.

Mrs. Westhrop pleaded illness when her husband prepared to go to church in the afternoon and remained at home with the children. After her husband had disappeared she managed to send the farm hands away. Then, one by one, she called the children into the back vard and. telling them to stand against the fence with their backs to her, she shot them down. After each was killed she dragged the body out of sight. Then she bound the four-months-old baby to the bed and set fire to the house The husband says his wife had acted queerly for days owing to

HOW THE TIMES TREATS LABOR.

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES pays to its skilled workmen wages that aver from $3.75 to $4.50 per day for time work, and from $4 to $5.50 per age from $3.75 to $4.50 per day to. these rates are higher than are paid by any competing day for piece work. These rates are higher than are paid by any competing wspaper. The Times pays larger sums weekly, monthly and yearly for labor than any journal in all the Southwest. Its cash disbursements on this account between August, 1890, and the end of September, 1901, aggregated $1,007,000.81, and its annual expenditures for labor of all classes, both skilled unskilled, new average more than $175,000 per year. There never has been any attempt, in any quarter, to deny these aspecific and telling facts, and the proprietors challenge such denial if made. The Times has a more skillful, reliable and satisfactory force of workmen than any rival newspaper ent; and not for years has it had any trouble with its works ent of unions, loyal to their employers and to themse well satisfied and prosperous. The Times controls its own business in its own way, subject only to the laws of the land; and no interference with control can be lawfully or justly made. The result of its fixed policy proven highly beneficial to all concerned, and the justness and correctness of its course have for years past received public approval in most marked and conspicuous ways, the circulation and advertising patronage of the paper steadily and largely outstripping that of all local rivals.

While the United States leads the world in rapidity of railroad transit, and in luxury of car accommodations. there is one important feature of the railroads in which we are far-very far-behind almost every other country of the world. This is the safety of travelers, certainly the most important feature to be considered, even in a country where everybody wants or at least as soon. A recent dispatch from London quotes a report issued by the Board of Trade in regard to railroad accidents, which contains the remarkable statement that not a single passenger was killed in 1901. Eleven railway employés and persons who were not passengers were killed, and 161 injured, while 476 passengers were injured. This is, indeed, a most astonishing record, and reflects the greatest credit upon the British railroad companies, which Americans have been somewhat inclined to sneer at as antiquated and slow. Better be a little behind the times than that hundreds or even thousands of human beings should every year meet an untimely fate. It cannot, however, justly be claimed that this freedom from fatal accidents to passengers is due to slow traveling, because Great Britain has, until within the last few years, led the world in rapid travel and, as we have said, is still a good

A comparison of this record with the shocking story of death on the same year, surely furnishes food for reflection. It should do more. It should urge the demand that the government require of railroad companies greater precautions for the protection of the lives and limbs of their passengers. As we have previously said, whatever may be thought in regard to the advisability, or otherwise, of govcan be no question that it is the duty of the government to compel transportation companies to take every precaution to insure the safety of their passengers, and to punish them severely when they are convicted of

A RMED STRIKERS.

A dispatch from Bluefields, W. Va., dated yesterday, relates that "several parties of 150 to 200 strikers are parading the fields armed with Winchesters, and a great many shots have been exchanged between them and the guards at the mines." The same dispatch states that "at the Buckeye works this morning, a hundred strikers, most of them armed, prevented the men from going to work." A dispatch from Bramwell, Va., of the same date, says that "this morning about 100 of the strikers, heavily armed, left Simaons, where on a march to Pocahontas."

latest fashion for strikers-at least in the section from which the above dispatches were sent-is to arm themselves with Winchesters, and when thus armed to go forth in bodies of 100 or more, to enforce their demands. In view of which facts, it would seem to be pertinent to inquire whether we are living under a government of law, made by the people, or whether we are about to be placed under a government of strikers, by strikers, and for strikers. It is sometimes claimed by, or in behalf of strikers, that the power of civil or military authority is employed to "put down the strike."

This is not true. Civil or military power is employed, in all cases of this kind, not to suppress strikes, but to disorder and unhold the law bitterness observable If the employment of troops, or of among the leading Boers is against civil peace officers, for this purpose, France and Germany. They declare operates against the cause of the strikers, it is simply because the latter are violators of the law and as such, are at enmity with the public the Boers are said to be so incensed

The armed bands of strikers should be disarmed at once, and at any cost. Only officers sworn to uphold the law and preserve the public peace have a right to carry arms. In arming themselves and menacing the peace, the strikers place themselves in the position of bandits, whom the law must disarm and restrain at all to carry arms, nor to seek, by the employment of threats and violence, to enforce their demands, than their employers would have to arm themselves and sally forth for the purpose of rounding them up and compelling them to work or be shot down in their tracks. Most labor troubles would quickly right themselves if the laws were strictly enforced, if the rights of all concerned were fully protected, if all intimidation and violence were stopped, if every man were permitted to exercise, fully and freely, the fundamental rights guaranteed to him by the Constitution of the United States and by the constitutions of the several States. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, strikers rely for success, not upon the principles of right hurry, and wants to go from one and justice, but upon the inauguration of a reign of terror, in which other men shall be obliged to act, not according to the dictates of their own consciences, or the promptings of their own judgment, but to obey the will of the strikers, who thus arbitrarily assume a right of censorship and domination over the consciences and the actions of other men. No cause which is maintained by President Has Faith in the Future.

His Attitude One of Strict Impartiality Between Labor and Capital.

BY EDWARD S. LITTLE.

WASHINGTON, June 11.-Political theorists who never admit that a politeory ever can go wrong, tell us that the climax of American business prosperity has been reached, "because these things travel in cycles, and the hard times cycle is upon us." Hence it is time for a Democratic victory this is time for a Democratic victory this fail, because Democrats and hard times pounce upon the country together like twin pests, one being the cause and the other the effect, and it making no difference which one happens to be the cause, the other is certain to be the effect. This sort of predicting has been heard all winter in Washington. Members of Congress have had it in their bones, most likely because they did not know the new man in the White House, and they were a bit afraid of him. As the winter has rolled by, it is discovered, even from this crabbed political atmosphere that we have in Washington, that there is nothing the matter, and things are looking up politically. One needs but to make a pligrimage to the White House, and have a chat with President knows his politics, knows his business world to perfection, and knows in what direction he is traveling. The President has the most perfect faith in the political future. Of course, he is expected to have that faith. But the grounds upon which he bases his faith in the continued and triumphant victory of the Republican party is what must appeal to a man looking for political guidance.

It is no narrow view of things that the Britishers most fear the one alaughts to those who sail from this side of the big pond. They have discovered over there that this is quite as clever a people in a crooked way as it is in expected that they have a chart with President knows his political and shirt waists that are fit to wear, and fashionable tools with which to make other tools to do the business way to in the most thorough and effective make other tools to do the business which, whatever that business may be in the most thorough and effective, as the leader of thing to know that whatever an American thing to know that whatever an American the lightest style of the art. velt, because they are afraid of him.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. The financial community knows exactly what to expect from President Roosevelt, and the great financial men have complete faith in him. They know that it is his policy to make them keep within the law with their corporations, and they are content with that course, for as sound business men they are anxious to know, what nobody in the United States does know today, what are the limitations, in law, of the corporations commonly called trusts. President Roosevelt is going to find out about that, and then apply the law by making corporations keep within it. This is not a hostile movement against trusts. The popular impression has been that it is such a movement. The fact is that the President does not intend it as an act of hostility. It is merely a movement for the enforcement of the law for the protection of the people-capital and attendant inflation of values to the bursting point.

It is related that a man called upon the President the other day and congratulated him upon being "the friend of the laboring man." The President rebuked him, and told him that he did not intend to be the especial friend of the laboring man any more than he intends to be the special friend of the capitalist. The President told this caller that his purpose was to be absolutely fair as between capital and labor, and added that the greatest financiers in the world could get no more consideration from the administration than could the laboring man. In that remark—which was made in private, and ation from the administration than could the laboring man. In that remark—which was made in private, and never intended to reach any considerable part of the public—you have a glimpse of Roosevelt as he is—rejecting even the idea that he will play one part of the body politic against another part merely to get votes. And this attitude of the President is becoming so well known that he is fast winning the compite confidence of both labor and capital, so that both will give him their complete support. Trusts have nothing to fear from the White House so long as they keep within the law; labor unions have nothing to fear so long as they keep within the law; labor unions have nothing to fear so long as they keep within the law. But let labor violate law so as to call for Presidential action, and the country would find Roosevelt as prompt as he has been in invoking the law against the beef trust, and against the rail-road trust.

Hence nothing is going to happen from the White House to make capital timid. The manufacturing of the country is pressed to fill the orders that continue to pour in upon the mills. The cotton crop of the South is one of the biggest crops over grown in the sec in order that the present President's election might not be jeopardized. The story had a most fishy look and a more fishy smell, even when it was fresh.

Senator Bard's suggestion that the United States acquire property rights on the Isthmus of Panama, in case, the canal is located on that site, is founded on abundant wisdom and common sense. The amendment ought to be incorporated.

New York is having five deaths per diem from the excessive heat. It must be a pleasure to die and get out of such, a climate as that.

Now that King Edward has had a chill we may expect all the Anglomaniacs in New York to come down with the pneumonia.

Now the dry lands must have laughed when the news reached them that the irrigation bill had run the gauntlet in safety.

It y is present to upon the mills. The cotton crop of the South is one of the biggest crops ever grown in that section. The winter-wheat crop is fair—not big, but fair. The spring-wheat crop on June I was nearer perfect than has been the case for many years. The corn acreage is immense. Business of a crop conditions are all that corn acreage is immense. The curious tendency of proper names to describe characteristics as common ones do is to be observed in the nature of the adaptation by Mrs. Charles of the adaptation by Mrs. Charles

Then it has spontaneity and a touchand-go hero, doing impossible; romantic the comedy is of the inverted, self-depreclatory order, which gives the dashing character of Richard Harding Davis and Anthony Hope so great a hold on favor and not new or well done does not make it less diverting.

It is effervescent, audaclous and always there—and that's enough when it is equaled by the thrilling, 'I follow her to hell' and "Take that, you cur!"
which explode always just preceding the fall of the curtain. The villainy of the villain and the heroism of the hero are of the sort that prompts boys in the gallery to volunteer their services. Then there is that most splendid defiance of foreign intrigue and that most worshipful derision of honors from crowned heads that is at once the flower and glory of our realistic literature. The dash with which the untamed American threads the labyrinth of Russian sples, the Sherlock Holmes unconcern rotests his love as though it were a double eagle and the Victoria Crossad hi it is great, unsurpassed, unsurpassable!

After the glit and gasgery of Sardress of the sort that gasgery of St. Vincent in est CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

An evening with it all is well spent. The damnation in the play is righteous; the hell is thoroughly orthodox. He who loves, loves, and before you go home you not only know that he has the girl, but you see the bridal veil. When the hero lunges he does it with a purpose, but, like Cyrano's swordsmanship, there is no spleen in it, and the gore that is spilled never gets out of the entrances.

Ralph Stuart is an actor. That's about all that can be said of any one who asks money to see him, unless you can say also that he is a man. Stuart seems to be both. Indeed, it's hard to tell in this part which is which—it's all so natural and convincing. And he tell in this part which is which—it's all so natural and convincing. And he' has a fine company. It's well up to the Burbank standard. Frank Sheridan has a forceful, commanding presence and is discriminating. He is cast for the villain, and any gallery god will tell you be ought to be shot at sunrise. John Daly Murphy is a comedian of quiet, unctuous methods, and President does not intend it as an act of hostility. It is merely a movement for the enforcement of the law for the protection of the people—capital and labor, both of which are seriously menaced by illegal trust forming, with the attendant inflation of values to the bursting point.

ORPHEUM. A real vaudeville wonder, or, rather, two of them, happenedlast night at the Orpheum. They were both new songs, a rare blessing in the dearth of rag-time ditties and syncopated melodies which have floated about since variety graduated into society. They will probably not happen again, for they are poetic, which is a quality as unknown to the halls as the lyrics of Hafiz, the Persian, yet they seemed to go uncommonly well the lyrics of Hafz, the Persian, yet they seemed to go uncommonly well last night. Perhaps that was due to the petite personality and the dainty ways of Irene Franklin, who sang them. Miss Franklin introduced another innovation; she appeared barren of jewelry; there was not a ring, brooch or breastpin in sight. In consequence, the prettiness of her arms and fingers could be noted. The songs were "The Owl and the Moon" and "The Madden With the Dreamy Eyes."

After possibly a month the patient was just able to tell when she had been touched on the body below the injured spot. In three months she could raise one leg about an inch from the bed. Day by day, as she gained strength, the control of the spinal cord over the lower members increased. In three months she lifted both legs, and turned over in bed, and in six months she was able to maintain a sitting posture, and was removed to a rolling chair.

Since then progress has been steady ture, and was removed to a rolling chair.

Since then progress has been steady, and, as before mentioned, Miss Nichols has advanced so far that, with help, she is able to stand erect.

The possibilities of the discovery are far-reaching. Sewing the spinal cord having proved successful in the case of Miss Nichols, there is no reason to believe that it would be less efficacious in the treatment of similar cases. In any event, regardless of the future, Dr. Stewart has accomplished something that cannot fail to take permanent place with the great achievements in surgery, and deserves all the encomiums he received in Albany.

GENE FIELD ON THE ROAD.

People of the West Were not Ready

[Washington Post:] "Twenty-five years ago a comedy trio left Denver which had some rather unusual ex-periences. Eugene Field, Otto Rothperiences. Eugene Field, Otto Rothaker and myself were the three performers," said Howard Saxby, of Cincinnati, at the Raliegh Hotel a few days ago. "We decided that there was money in the show business and started out to demonstrate to the world our great ability as entertainers. We were all three employed on the Denver Republican, but we decided that newspaper life was to monotonous, interested a partner who sold a horse to get money enough to put us on the road, and started for Colorado Springs, where we were to play our first engagement.

"Field and I were to read humorous selections of our own composition and Rothaker was to give some of Tennyson's poems that there might be variety in the entertainment. Our success in Colorado Springs was remarkable. We had 427 people in the audience, and everything went off smoothly. All of our stunts were very polite, and it was necessary for each of us to wear a dress suit. We had only one dress coat, and consequently it was impossible for us to do any reading in concert. As soon as a performer dashed off the stage he skinned off that stock coat, and the man who was to do the next number slipped into it. Unfortunately, all of us were not of the same size. Field and I were larger than Rothaker, and the coat was as much too small for slipped into it. Unfortunately, all of us were not of the same size. Field and I were larger than Rothaker, and the coat was as much too small for us as it was too large for Rothaker. "We liked Colorado Springs so well that we came pretty near not getting to Pueblo, our next stop. Our first success wasn't repeated in Pueblo. Seventeen people came out to hear us, and it was the most exacting audience I ever saw. It was painfully candid, and had no hesitation about expressing its opinion in plain, unvarnished Colorado English.

"Field had just begun his Primer at that time. When nothing but jeers greeted our other numbers, Field decided that he would try some of the Primer on the audience. He stepped on the stage with great assurance at the conclusion of a reading by Rothaker, which brought out more catcalls than I ever imagined seventeen men could make. After asking for order, Field began to read from the Primer. It wasn't a Field crowd, and the Primer was received much after the fashion one of Effie Cherry's compositions is received today.

"Well, we left Pueblo, pretty badly discouraged. Our next stop was to be in Nex Mexico. By pawning Field's coat and Rothaker's umbrella, we raised money enough to buy tickets most of the way, and we walked the remainder of the distance. Another Pueblo reception greeted us, and we found ourselves stranded. We had nothing to pawn but the dress coat, and there wasn't much demand for evening tothes in New Mexico at that time. An old man, who had a room at the hotel adjoining mine, committed suicide during the night. When the coroner came to hold an inverse were the first applicants for places on the jury, and the few we received enabled us to get back into Colorado."

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

BISBEE (Ariz.) June 14.—The forest fire that has been devastating the best timbered district of the Huachuca Mountains, is believed to be subsid-ing, largely, because of the efforts of the mining companies operating in the region, assisted by a couple of troops of cavalrymen from Fort Huachuca. The burned district is believed to be twelve by ten miles in extent, on the west side of the great range. For a while the other side of the range was threatened, including the watershed from which the water supply of Tombstone is drawn. The report that the property of the Exposed Reef Mining Company had been destroyed has been found incorrect. The mill was saved by back fires set by the company center. found incorrect. The mill was saved by back fires set by the company's employes. Several narrow escapes from death have been reported among the fire fighters, as the flames will leap hundreds of feet, and in a number of instances retreat was made at the last possible moment. The situation is still alarming, and the authorities at Washington have been appealed to for aid. The President and the Secretary of the Interior have both assured Arizona's Delegate in Congress that prompt measures will be taken. Another forest fire has been reported in the Pinal Mountains, not far from Globe.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR. CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

District Court is actively in opera-tion at Tombstone. The criminal docket is almost unprecedented for size. Besides those out on bail, twenty-three persons accused of felonies occupied the prisoners' box at the beginning of court. Seven of the cases are for murder. On the civil side of the docket are included eighteen divorce cases. FATAL ACCIDENTS.

FATAL ACCIDENTS.

Wednesday night, Elmer E. Miller, an employs of the Copper Queen Company, was fatally burned in the converter pit of the smeiter, by the tipping of an immense pot filled with molten siag. The siag almost covered the unfortunate man, who died a few hours thereafter. For several hours he complained of no pain, but toward the end his sufferings were agonizing. Miller was 35 years old, and was from Sacramento. Cal. The accident appears to have been one in which he had not the slightest blame.

A. Derrick, employed on the Bisbee road's grade, was crushed to death a few days ago. He was on top of several dump cars, filled with rock, which he was to dump at the extremity of a fill. The cars ran away on a slight grade and dropped over the end of the dump. Derrick being buried under the rock and cars.

When in Topeka, Kan., I had occasion to use the remedy for kidney complaint, and the results I obtained pestively proved the preparation acts up to the representations made for it. I am subject to attacks of kidney complaint and backache, probably caused by sitting in the saddle when in the British army. An advertisement about Doan's Kidney Pills brought that remedy to my notice recently and I went to Dean's drug store for a box—not that I required them at the time, but I knew from past experience the medicine could be depended upon should any recurrences of backache take place."

Godsend to the Deaf.

There are many smiling faces at the New York Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb just now, owing to successful experiments with a new apparatus which enables the deaf, to hear. It is called the akouphone. The machine employs electric sound valves, which penetrate the deafset ear and have a reviving effect on the diseased parts of the ear. The machine does not increase the volume of sound, but makes it more penetrating. It is on the same principle as the Roentgen light rays, which do not produce a greater degree of light, but a kind of light which penetrates bodies hitherto impervious to it. The instrument is of no benefit to the small percentage of the deaf who have paralysis of the auditory nerves, With the partially deaf it does away with the eager straining to catch the sound of the human volce, and an ordinary conversational tone can be used.—[New York Correspondence Pittsburgh Dispatch.]

Mr. Evaits's Apology.

On one of his later birthday anniversaries Senator Hoar wrote to William M. Evarts and congratulated him on his length of years. In his reply the aged lawyer said it brought to mind an old lady in New England who had occasion to write to a friend about some matter of trifling importance, and when she had reached the end of the thirteenth page awakened to the fact that she had been rather diffuse, and added: "Please excuse my longevity."—[Chicago News.

GAY THRONGS AT MASONIC TEMPLE.

Brightest Night of the Shriners' Merry Pilgrimage-Music, Dancing, Feasting and Beauty.

A MID surroundings of great beauty and spiendor, and with infeigned fraternal cordiality, members of Al Malaikah Temple last night welcomed to the oasis of Los Angeles their weary fellow-Nobles of the Mystic Shrine from across the desert.

At the Masonic Temple on Hill street was held a reception and ball unexreserved for the reception ceremonies, and there also an orchestra was stationed. The Masonic chamber on the ground floor was used for dancing.

At 9 o'clock the arrival of Imperial Potentate Akin and his escort, Potentate Fred A. Hines, was announced, and the march to the reception room began from all parts of the building. Standing on a dais at the rear of the hall, the chief greeted the nobles and ladies as they marched past in double file, the presentations being made by Potentate Hines. These ceremonies occupied almost an hour, and passing out the guests proceeded to the banquet room.

The refreshments were as varied as delicious. Pretty maidens in white served champagne, pineapple, clared in the wee, small hours. DAYTIME DOINGS.

All through the day the visiting Shriners were received by the local Reception Committee in the headquarters. The rooms were crowded from morning till night. The quarters were prettill decorated with carnations and other flowers, and all brands of liquid cheer flowers, and should cheer flowers flo

Although practically the entire building was brought into use for the event, the Temple was inadequate to hold comfortably the throngs which gathered for the festivities. Every prac-ticable form of entertainment had been provided, and about every available brand of refreshment had been secured for the guests.

As a spectacle the reception was a thing of unusual brilliancy. The red fez added a glad bit of color to the evening dress of the gentlemen, while the ladies were dreams of elegance. for the guests. Members of the Daughters of Isis, the ladies auxiliary order of the Shriners, ladles auxiliary order of the Shriners, wore a dainty fez of cream or red. Flowers were used profusely and with rare taste throughout the building, the banquet room being transformed into a bower of green and pink. Ferns and carnations formed the principal decorations, the tables being lighted with purple candelabra. At each end of the room were colored incandescents forming the insignia of the order.

The guests began arriving about 8 o'clock and the stream did not abate until after 10. At the gate a half dozen Nobles extended greetings, and

There had been a Reception Committee of fifty appointed, with charles Campbell, chairman, but by unanimous consent it was quickly swelled to include every member of the local temple, and all joined in mak-ing the visitors happy.

FIGHT WITH OSTRICH.

Furious Attack by "George Washington" on Head Keeper Edwards at South Pasadena Farm.

South Pasadena Farm.

Painfully injured by an infuriated ostrich, H. J. Edwards, head keeper at the South Pasadena Ostrich Farm, is confined to his bed, and for many weeks will bear the marks of bruises and wounds inflicted Sunday afternoon by "George Washington," one of the biggest of the big birds. Edwards narrowly escaped with his life.

It was all because George's mate Martha attempted to swallow an orange that was too large for her gullet. Like others of her kind, Martha is fond of the fruit, which is swallowed whole, Martha picked too large an orange, and it stuck before it had passed more than a foot down her long passed more than a foot down her long esophagus. It looked like an Adam's apple on a long-necked Swede, but it felt to Martha like a baseball in a wineglass, and she had a choking fit in which she twisted and squirmed her neck like a worm on a fishhook. Edwards noticed Martha's distress, and entered the pen with the intention of assisting her out of the difficulty by working the orange one way or the other with his hand.

George, who is the oldest and one of the finest birds on the farm, thought Edwards was paying undue attention to the lady bird, and attacked the keeper in a wild fury.

Knocking Edwards to the ground, the ostrich, which weighs more than three-hundred pounds, jumped on him repeatedly, ticking with his powerful legs and hard feet; tearing the keepers clothing, lacerating his fiesh and bruising him from head to foot.

Armed with sticks and poles, several attendants went to the rescue of Edwards, driving George into another part of the pen and carrying the head keeper, bruised and bleeding, to a place of safety.

The fight between Edwards and the ostrich was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators, who stood horrified as the huge biped mauled and kicked the defenseless man.

that the standard of the hospital has been raised.

Supervisor E. S. Field has said that the investigation of the hospital "scandal" is to be "wide open," and that anyone will be heard who wishes to bring forward charges, or to contrast past with present methods. It is upon this invitation that counsel for Dr. Witherbee will act.

The so-called "midnight supper scandal" among the nurses, which originally brought on the investigation, is said to be nothing but a dash of sand in the eyes of the public, thrown for the purpose of blinding the taxpayers and to furnish an excuse for the removal of Dr. Witherbee, whose methods are distasteful to political "grafters."

Ever since Dr. Witherbee took the management of the hospital, October 1 of last year, the politicians have had of last year, the politicians have had a sorry time. They found that he proposed to conduct the hospital on business, not political, lines.

Dr. Witherbee instituted a system of purchasing and checking medical and other supplies for the hospital which insured their purchase on the best terms possible, and guaranteed the delivery of everything paid for by the county.

delivery of everything paid for by the county.

In this way it is claimed that a saving of $2485.25 has been effected in the eight months just closed, as compared with the previous eight months under another administration. This is an average saving of 6.2 cents per patient per day. The figures on which this percentage of saving are based is exclusive of the expenditure of considerable sums for permanent improvements, and the expense of handling a smallpox quarantine. Including these expenses, which were not included in the previous eight months, the saving has been at the rate of 5 cents per patient per day, or a total of $1711.20 in eight months.

It was on the purchase of medical supplies that the greatest saving was effected. In January, 1901, with an average of 175 patients in January, 1902, the cost of medical supplies was $372.84. In other words, medical supplies was $372.84. In other words, medical supplies was $372.84. In other words, medical supplies of 159 patients in January, 1902, the cost of medical supplies for 159 patients in January, 1901, cost $186.29 more than the supplies for 178 patients in January, 1902.

THE milk in the County Hospital cocoanut has cozed out.

The attack made on Dr. O. O. Witherbee, superintendent of the institution, was instigated by a coterie of politicians, who, unable to "use" him, are attempting to have him ousted. complacent person in charge of affairs and to overturn the business methods that have been in vogue the past eight months.

The fight was precipitated by the framing of a new schedule for the purchase of frug supplies, which put a stop to large steals from the county. The grafters have declared that this schedule must not go into effect and that Witherbee must be killed off.

Earl Rogers, Esq., counsel for Dr. Witherbee, proposes, with the assistance of Judge A. M. Stephens, to lay bare the plot, and when the case comes before the Board of Supervisors at a special meeting komorrow, the attorneys intend to set forth facts and figures to prove not only that Dr. Witherbee's administration has been eco-TERMS MORE BINDING.

NON-CONTRACT STEALS.

Showing the "graft" in the "non-contract" system, which is possible under the former methods, an investigation of the hospital records furnishes some good examples. Without a contract in November, 1899, powdered pepsin was paid for at the rate of 35 and 39 per pound. Under a contract, it now is furnished at 43 per pound. In many cases non-contract goods were billed at six to eight times the price of similar goods furnished on contract.

A "joker" discovered yesterday is the great variation of prices on certain articles. Pills known as "little devils" were billed at 6 cents per thousand under the 1900 contract, and at 75 cents per thousand in 1901. Emulsion of cod liver oil, that cost the county 5 cents per thousand in 1901. Hicks thermometers in 1900 were 31 per dozen, and at present are 35 per dozen. Three-inch adhesive rolls that sold at 31.20 per dozen under the 1900 contract, now are 37.65 per dozen.

The drafting of the new contract schedule is but one of the measures adopted by Dr. Witherbee in his management of the hospital, but it strikes a sore spot, and is a big factor in the fight that is waged against him. There will be sensational doings at tomorrow's session of the Board of Supervisors.

If only half the drugs were listed and purchased at contract price and the other half were bought at any old price the contractor might charge, what a snap he had! He could well afford to lose on the contract articles, for the sake of enormous profits to be reaped on the big these of purposely unlisted articles.

More to the point, however, is the fact that the new contract contains a number of stipulations as to quality that never have appeared before. Last year's contract simply contained an agreement, worded as follows:

court will contain 2720 incandescent lamps in addition to the street illumination on Market street, which alone will carry 3840 lights. The insigna of the order, made of vari-colored globes, will be a feature in each of the courts. The grand court of honor, which will be located at the intersection of Market, Geary, Kearney and Third streets, is to contain several thousands of lights, one a large emblem reaching from the grand court to the tail buildings near by.

Altogether this westward pligrimage of the Knights, August 11 to 20 next, promises to be an event in history. Inquiries indicate that over 100,000 people will then take advantage of the low rates offered by the overland railroads.

BEATING THE TELEGRAPH. BY EPS W. SARGENT.

AZILY Linyard watched the blue-coated figure toiling slowly up the hill from the station. Who, he wonrise and meet the lad, but the June day had an enervating breath, and, be-sides, the note might be for Clifford. Clifford owned Woodcrest, and Lin-man got his wireless telegram aboard at Nantucket."

Linyard gritted his teeth. Then he turned to his friend desperately. "See here: I've simply got to get my proposal in first. How can I do it?"

But Clifford sat there in a brown study. Suddenly his friend's face brightened. "Let's go bluefishing on the Ariel," he said, quickly. And Clifford, with the light of sudden understanding on his face, nodded an assent. Late that afternoon there was a commotion on the bridge of the New York. Not far ahead a schooner yacht acted as though bent on self-destruction by persistently getting in the steamer's way. The first officer reached for the whistle cord.

tion by persistently getting in the steamer's way. The first officer reached for the whistle cord.

As the hoarse notes boomed out across the water the yacht displayed the signal flags for "I want to speak to you," and a minute later, with engines stopped, the huge steamer lay to.

"New York ahoy!" hailed the yachtsman through the megaphone. "Is Miss Burton on board?"

There was a wild scramble among the passengers lining the rail. Presently a slender girlish figure mounted the bridge.

"This is Miss Burton," shouted the first officer, indicating her with his trumpet.

Clear and sharp came back the reply: "This is Mr. Linyard. I want to know if she will marry me?"

A cheer went up from the crowded deck. Then the answer rang back clearly, "She says she will."

"Tell her I leave on Saturday's steamer. Thanks and good-bye."

A very much disgusted officer reached for the indicator and pulled it viciously to "full speed ahead."

On deck the Ariel Linyard turned joyfully to his friend. "Jim," he said fervently, "there are times when a schooner yacht beats even wireless telegraphy. Let's go below and offer up a libation to my engagement."

FOR WARMTH IN WINTER.

In cold weather the best invigorant is not a dram of ardent spirits, nor a cup of "good hot coffee," but that dietetic fuel known as calorific foodfatt in some form or other—sweet cream, milk, vegetable oils, or fat meat, boiled or stewed. Alcohol scorches the palate, but the outcome of its physiological effect is a reduction of the thermal resources. A brandy drinker, after the subsidence of the momentary sham sensation, will shiver in a gale that would hardly affect the comfort of a total abstainer. Dr. Kane's two teetcalers carried the flag to latitudes never before reached by beings of our species.

"Did you give up drinking to steady your nerves?" Karl Vogt asked the veteran guide, who had picked Prof. Tyndall's trail to the top of the Matterhorn.

"No; that wouldn't scare me," laughed the old Highlander, "nothing could make me dizzy or nervous, I think; but the fact is I'm too poor to buy fur coats, and a dram-drinker, somehow, can't stand cold weather of the kind we have to face summer and winter. Besides," he added, "It isn't pleasant to lug a pile of dry goods

It would, indeed, not be quite easy to answer that question. Would reason justify a stove fire in a sweltering sitting-room?

BLOOD TEMPERATURE.

Ripe fruit and such farinaceous dishes as buckwheat cakes, oatmeal gruel with milk, or a sweetened and flavored plateful of boiled rice, would abundantly suffice to supply the alimentary needs of the organism, and would answer the purpose of nutrition without wantonly increasing the difficulty of keeping the body's temperature at its normal medium. For the marvelous self-regulating power of the living laboratory has to solve that problem in midsummer, as well as in midwinter, and there are days when the temperature of the blood is actually a dozen degrees Fahrenheit below that of the atmosphere in the shade of a plenic grove, and as much as 30 deg. lious neighborhood of sunstrokes and brain fevers.

Imagine a nurse charged with the task of saving a patient's life by keeping the sickroom comfortably cool, realize the difficulties of the problem and her growing uneasiness as the midsummer sun approaches the zenith, and then imagine her dismay at the discovery that some well-meaning idiot has slipped in and set the stove a roaring with a blaze of chips and grease. Perhaps he intended no harm; sickrooms have to be warmed, thought the fogles of the old medical school, and the hearsay victim who heats his blood with greasy dishes possibly hopes to facilitate the survival of the long summer day, but he might just as well-bave tried to make his grease abate the flames of a conflagration.

"In general," says the masseur, "your hunting dog or the animal that accompanies its master on his walks does not require massage or physical culture, except, perhaps, in infancy. The exercise he obtains is adequate. But the great number of valuable pets, particularly those of women, kept in the house, and pampered and fed to repletion, need artificial exercise to keep them in health. My system supplies it."

BIG CHANGES IN WATER-RATE ORDINANCE.

USE OF METERS,

ments Which are Adopted by the President Silver Shows the Extravagant Waste of Water in Los Angeles to a greater extent than r before. As forecasted in these colns, the Water Commission yesterday sented to the Council a number of cortant amendments to the watere ordinance. President Silver of the council immediately voted to make the changes as suggested. Walker voted against lowering the minimum meter rate on the ground that the meter rates are far too low.

tion was rushed night and day, and every effort was made to avert a water scarcity. Superintendent Mulholland declared there is but one remedy for existing conditions, and that is the general use of meters. It was shown that the percapita daily consumption of water in Los Angeles is exceeded by but two cities in the United States. The commission arily realized the soundness of Superintendent Mulholland's argument in favor of meters, but was not certain how to proceed to make an equitable application of the meters. All consumers gould not be furnished with meters at once, and the tabulated returns from a number of trial meters showed that the average citizen pays a fair price for water. Some residences with large lawns and extensive grounds were found to use a surprising amount of aqua pura, for which a ridiculously low price was paid. How to reach the class of people who were wasting the water without seeming to legislate against any one class of citizens was a delicate question. President Silver and Superintendent Mulholland conferred at length regarding this phase of the situation and finally evolved the plan which was adopted by the Council yesterday. Under this rule only those citizens whose grounds exceed three times the floor area of the buildings on their property are compelled to use meters. This plan is held to be as fair to the gich as to the poor mân. It hits everybody, and it is believed that it will reach the majority of cases which cause the department trouble. The amended section reads:

"Frovided, that in case of premises where the ratio which the portions of the grounds upon which water is used bears to the area occupied by buildings is greater than that of three to one, and also in case of premises where the ratio which the service shall be by metera as soon as the same can be conveniently applied, and meter rates shall be charged as hereinafter profided."

The Water Commission, however, is fiven the power to install a meter amendment reading:

"And the Board of Water Commissioners is hereby authorised to apply meters in all cases in order to ascertain the amount of water used, and wherever there is manifest waste it may install and maintain meters and charge meter rates."

Byery consumer has the right to install a meter at his own expense and to secure the benefit of the meter rates. In addressing the Council on the question yesterday, President Silver gave many cogent reasons for the recommendations of the commission. In part, he said:

"The Water Commissioners have deemed it advisable to appoint a special committee, consisting of Maj. H. T. Lee, Superintendent Mulholland and myself, to appear before you and explain the object of the amendments which we submit and the necessity for their adoption. The Water Commission is aiming at and hoping for three things. First, an equitable system of water rates as soon as it appears that the revenue will more than meet the running expenses of the plant and pay the interest and sinking fund on the bonds; third, and by no means the least, to secure the evenue of water.

FINAL ORDINANCE PASSED.

Yesterday the Council passed the final ordinance which will afford the voters—if the State Supreme Court is willing—an opportunity to pass on five separate bond issues, aggregating $2,180,000. The ordinance contemplates the largest increase ever made in the bonded debt.

September 17 has been chosen as the day on which the election will be held. The bonds will bear 3% per cent. Interest.

ing-house Keepers' Association, asking that he be paid $215.25 as rental money for bedrooms occupied by lodgers while his house was under quarantine, was referred to the Board of Health.

Walton made a strong argument in presenting his case. He declared that the city might have saved enough this year in the cost of quarantine guards to build a detention hospital, and that such short-sighted policy has done him great damage. He declared that the Health Office took the keys away from him, and unlocked the rooms, forcing him to give free lodging to forty-one men for three weeks. It was no fault of his, he said, that the man was sick. He always kept his house in a sanitary condition.

"You might as well break into a grocery store and take the provisions to feed those men as to force me to shut up my house and lodge them free of charge," he declared.

O. E. Grueb, who has a similar claim, quoted the United States Constitution to the effect that private property must not be taken for public use without due compensation.

AT THE COURTHOUSE. EVERYBODY JUMPED ON COL. J. MARION.

JUDGE WANTED TO FINE HIM; WITNESS TO LICK HIM.

"Coi." J. Marion Brooks, the genial legal comedian, had a thrilling escape yesterday from the double peri of a flst fight with a witness and the consuming wrath of the court.

With a healthy-looking man on the witness stand evidently enthusiastic to punch his face, and Judge Smith thundering down threats of fines for condering down threats of fines for condering down threats of fines for con-tempt of court, the colonel had a terri-ble time.

The trouble with Brooks is that when he is funny he is funnier than he in-tends to be, and when he is sad, he is sadder than he tries to be. Yesterday he was funny.

He was examining a witness named longer.

Deputy District Attorney McComas hastily interposed an objection to that line of questioning. "Yes, yes," said the judge, severely, "that's too trivial, Mr. Brooks." "He's trying to insult me; that's what he is trying to do," said Lawson hotly.

"I am not trying to insult you," snapped Brooks.

Lawson got excited. "He is frying to insult me," he bellowed. "He has referred to me in the language of Alameda street. He called me a — to-

Mr. Brooks's legs almost kicked out from under him with the suddenness with which he obeyed the court's in-junctions. Mr. Brooks has had bitter experience in just that line. In the meantime McComas, swiping his hair violently in his excitement, made a flank movement on witness Lawson to restmin him from hostili-ties.

superfluily of mothers. It was father, Frank Eastman, on trial for bigamy.

He was to have been the star witness against his father. He was called to the stand, but McComas relented and refused to ask any questions.

It is a curious sort of story, Mary A. Dibble, a widow who owned a little home on Thirty-ninth street, had a notion to have some papering done in her house in the spring of 1901, and hired Eastman to do the work.

Eastman was good looking and sociable, and she was alone and forlorn. The result was that they were married a result was that they were to marry. She took this to mean that he was divorced, and made no further in prisonal result was the result was that they were married a result was "What time is that?" said Brooks severely.

"Twilight," she said with laborious patience, "comes just after sundown and before it gets pitch dark.
"Thank you," said Brooks meekly.
But what Brooks was really thirsting after was the romance. He was keen for romance.
"Where did you meet Eastman?"
"He was papering my house."
"And you got to talking then?"
"Yes."
"Papering your house was he; well, did you ever pay the bill?"
The Court ruled out the question, but the witness tittered and held her handkerchief to her mouth. "Well, it was a little bit little of you to ask that, but I can't help laughing," she said.
"I want to know," said the lawyer."
"fy you didn't tell Eastman that you couldn't pay the bill, and that he would have to take you instead?"
"No," she said indignantly.
"Well, who did propose marriage then," said Brooks."

then?" said Brooks."

"Why, Mr. Eastman, of course," she snapped. "This wasn't leap year."

Everybody jumped on Brooks.

Pretty soon there was a witness named Mrs. Springstein on the stanu.

She hadn't anything to do with the case except to be around when there were things to be seen.

Brooks got to working his keen insight on her testimony and Mrs. Springstein got mad.

"Now, I have answered that five times and I am not going to answer any more," she said, with determination.

"When you have any real questions, you can ask them; I am not going to answer that."

Col. Brooks scowled and appealed to

Col. Brooks scowled and appealed to the Court, and repeated the question in tones of thunder and violence, but Mrs. Springstein sat in adamantine silence.

Even Mr. McComas was finally im-pelled to come to the rescue of his Trials and Tribulations of the Lawyer Comedian in a Bigamy Case—He Roared for the Fifty-eighth, but the Fifty-eighth Was on the Bum.

"Col." J. Marion Brooks, the genial legal comedian, had a thrilling escape yesterday from the double perti of a first fight with a witness and the confight fully.

"Huh!" said Mrs. Springstein scornfully.
"Mr. McComas," said the Court witheringly, "will you kindly keep out of this; it is silly enough as it is."

The court plainly took the side of Mrs. Springstein. He kept ruling out the questions of Mr. Brooks, and Brooks kept on asking them just the same until Judge Smith leaned over the bench and said in a portentous caim, "Mr. Brooks, this court does not like to be obliged to impose a fine upon you."

this court. The court can't fine me I—"

"What's that?" frowned the court.

"I mean," said Brooks, breathlessly,

"I mean that I am not going to do anything that the court could fine me for. I am going to do everything that's right and—and rquare."

In about a minute after that, the State finished the prosecution, and it was Col. Brooks's move.

He caked that the jury retire, for he felt some eloquence coming.

"Gimme the Fifty-eighth California," he bawled to the bailiff. "I "spose the court has already made up it's mind. but anyhow, gimme the Fifty-eighth California."

With the Fifty-eighth California, he showed how his client was as innocent as a suckling dove.

He made a motion to dismiss the defendant on the ground that a case had not been made out, but Judge Smith overruled the motion. The Fifty-eighth had evidently lost it's potency.

The arguments were made, but Judge Smith adjourned court without giving the instructions to the jury.

The Jury will be instructed this morning.

The case was then resumed. It was only the calm before other storms.

It was too much of a family affair to be peaceable.

EANTA ANA, June 16.—José Martinez, a swarthy Mexican; recently employed in the peatlands, is wanted by the officers. Last Saturday Martinez decided to leave for pastures new, and no one probably would have objected to this determination had he not appropriated a horse from one of his neighbors and a buggy from another neighbor. Martinez evidently did not want to so alone, for he went over to want to so alone, for he went over to a near-by Mexican family and took a woman with him, whether by her consent or not, is not known by the officers. It is believed here that the feative Martinez is headed for Lower California.

"COYOTE" REYES ON TRIAL.
"Goyote" Joe Reyes is on trial in the Superior Court for assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, upon the person of Steve Barker of Anaheim. Reyes and Barker quarreled and Reyes used a knife with serious effect on Barker. The affair fiappened several weeks ago and for some time Barker hovered between life and death at the Anaheim hospital.
He is now sufficiently recovered to be released from the hospital.

FARMERS' CLUB MEETING.

FARMERS' CLUB MEETING. Canta Ana Farmers' Club was held Saturday evening at the home of C. E. Buell on South Main street. The principal paper of the evening was read by D. Edson Smith, his subject being. "The Curing of Apricots." The paper contained a fund of information of value to apricot growers in the propercuring of their crops. Rural telephones were also discussed and the advisability of organizing a cooperative exchange was talked of BACCALALIBEATE. SERVICES.

BACCALAUREATE SERVICES. Rev. B. C. Cory preached the baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening in the operahouse, for the class of 1902 of the Santa Ana High School. Many of the churches in the city had dismissed their regular services in order to permit all those who wished to attend these services, and this fact resulted in the operahouse being taxed to its full capacity. Mr. Cory delivered an eloquent address, his theme being "The Supreme Book," from Revelations xx, 12: "And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God;
and the books were opened, and another book was opened, which is the Book of Life."

TO BUILD BEET DUMPS. To Buildd BEET DUMPS.

The growing of sugar beets near Boisa and Westminster has increased so much recently that it has become necessary to build dumps for the convenience of the growers. Material has been ordered for two dumps, one to be located on the Newland Ranch, and the other probably at Smeltzer Station. The dumps will be ready in ample time to handle the coming season's crop of beets, which, from present indications, will be much larger than last year. This territory is new in beet culture, but the success attending the efforts of the farmers last season promises to make the peat and willow land ideal localities for the growing of this useful product.

TRUMBO'S ACCOUNTS.

The contest over the accounts of Isaac Trumbo, former receiver of the Golden Cross mines, was begun before Judge Torrance, in the Superior Court this afternoon, and is likely to continue some days. At the beginning of the proceedings Samuel M. Shortridge, who appeared for Mr. Trumbo, stated that his client was willing for a full and impartial hearing, and he declared that his accounts would be found to be all right. Many well-known lawyers are in attendance, representing the various interests.

SAN DIEGO, June 16.—Three boys, Mark Mossholder, Tom Scuse and Harry Hutchinson, were out in a small boat on the bay with their lines Sat-

A small library has been established at the regular army barracks in this city. The government only allows $10 a year for such purposes, but with the assistance of some outsiders, the neuclus of a library has been established, and is much appreciated by the boys, whose time hangs heavily upon their hands.

Nut-cracking.

Harry Hutchinson, were out in a small boat on the bay with their lines Saturday last, and as the small fry were not taking the bait any too rapidly, they dropped a line to the bottom, thinking they might find larger game. They found it, and with a rush, for suddenly one end of the boat started downward, with the other trying to take an aerial trip, while the boys landed in a bunch in the bottom of the boat. A jewfish had taken their big hook, and as he rose to make his run, the boat found its keel, and the boys started for a rapid and exciting ride, and for a few minutes they had a launch that could show her heels to the average gasoline craft. Three times across the bay the monster pulled them. Finally he became somewhat tired, and slacked his speed. Then the boys started in to finish him. They pulled in the slack and brought him near the surface, when he dived and went to the bottom again. After playing with him a little while they brought him to the surface, when he dived and went to the bottom again. After playing with him a little while they brought him to the surface, when he dived and went to the bottom again. After playing with him a little while they brought him to the surface, when he dived and went to the bottom again. After playing with him a little while they brought him to the surface, thoroughly worn out, and towed him to a wharf, where, with the aid of a block and tackle, he was landed, and tipped the beam at 319 pounds. Larger ones have been caught, but rarely has one caused more excluence that the challe than this one. Nut-cracking.

Nut-cracking is one of the many odd occupations pursued by industrious people in every large city. The tough old hickory nut furnishes one of the most flourishing branches of this peculiar trade, as the confectioners use so much of the product that the business in it is kept thriving all the year around. The capitalists in the business are the men who travel about the country locating hickory trees and buying the crop. There is a keen rivalry among them, and the farmer with a good crop of nuts can get a fair price by the bushel, if he only knows how to drive a bargain. The

A meteoric stone, fifteen inches long by two and one-half in diameter, was recently picked up on the desert by a resident of Julian.

The Julian Miner, speaking of work on the mines in that vicinity, says the Helvetia mine has been crushing ore to within the past few days, but a scarcity of water suspended operations for the time being. The paper also states that some rich rock has recently been found at Boulder Creek.

The Trustees of National City will pass a prohibition ordinance at their next meeting, making that village a "dry town" in the fullest sense of the word.

POMONA, June 16 .- After holding a POMONA, June 16.—After nothing ac-journed sessions for about a week Messrs. Jess, Adams, Sanders, Lorbeer and Dole of the Board of Library Trus-tees met this morning and made final selection of plans for the Carnegie li-brary building, as stated in the follow-ing resolution, which was unanimously passed:

passed:

"Whereas, five sets of library plans have been offered, in response to the invitation of the board of trustees to architects to submit plans for the Pomona public library; and, whereas, after examination the board has expressed its preference for the elevation plans submitted by Burnham and Bilesner of Los Angeles and for the floor plans submitted by C. E. Wolfe of this city, with certain modifications suggested by the board; and, whereas, Burnham & Bilesner having conferred with Mr. Wolfe, have obtained the right to use any and all of his plans; therefore, be it resolved, that the board adopt the plans submitted by Burnham & Bilesner as modified."

The architects participating in the competition were Lester S. Moore, Dennis & Farwell, associated with Ferdinand Davis; Presson & Seehorn, Burnham & Bilesner, and C. E. Wolfe. The plans selected for the exterior provide for a handsome structure of Romanesque design, the full size being 5ix78, to be constructed of brick with a yentilated air space, insuring a perfect insulation against heat and cold. CHINKS DRYING ABALONES.
SAN PEDRO, June 16.—Five Chinamen have started a new industry in San Pedro. Just beyound the Southern Pacific terminal depot, on the flats beneath the bluff, is a series of skeleton trestles, that cover about is quarter of an acre of ground. Upon these trestles are resting upward of 300 trays, built of strips of wood. About midway between the tiers of trays is an oven, constructed on a level with the ground. Resting within this oven is an immense caldron. Just east of all this, and close by the tresties, is a series of "bath" tubs, supplied with water from a hydrant. When operations are in progress at the tubs one may see large, fat and juicy abalones, fresh from their pearl and ivery clasps, heaped into an unsightly mass, awaiting their turn at the bath. Once in the tub they are mercliessly massaged with a triangular wooden arrangement. This bathing process continues through three separate applications of fresh water. They are then carried to the caldron of boiling water and dumped in, where they remain until all the ligaments that adhered to the shell in their live state are cooked, and fall off. From the caldron they are put upon trays and piaced in the sun to dry. After the drying process is completed, they are carefully prepared for shipment to China. The shells are shipped to American cities, where they bring good prices.

White Fair Sale price

We neither tire of telling, nor you of hearing, of a sale where every promise we made at its inception, has been faithfully kept. We know that such a sale of undermuslins was never before attempted in Los Angeles merchandising. Our White Fair sales have always been record breakers, for they are carefully planned months in advance, and the merchandise offered is of highest standard. We insist that our undermuslins be not only well made but they must be manufactured under best sanitary conditions, and the fact that most of them bear the label of the "National Consumers' League" proves most conclusively how critical we are in making our purchases.
